Tremaine Request Increases Possible Sales Tax Action

State Comptroller Makes Bid for 'Direct' Taxation to Put Burden of Financing Relief on 'Even' Basis

'Figured Once'

Tremaine Says Direct Levy
Would Be Easier for Public to Bear

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 18 (AP)—The possibility of a state-wide sales tax to finance relief was increased today by a recommendation of State Comptroller Morris S. Tremaine for "direct" taxation under which the burden would "be more evenly spread."

Making the recommendation as an alternative to "hidden taxes," he termed "the easy way to fooling poorer people," Tremaine said in a broadcast address last night that "we would all be better off if we had a direct tax, similar to a sales tax. Then we would know what we are paying for taxes."

His assertion came as the Legislature's Republican leadership pondered the party policy toward a recent recommendation of the Association of Towns for a state-wide, two per cent general sales tax to foot the relief bill. It coincided with these other developments:

Demand for milk producer and consumer representatives for repeal of the Rogers-Allen milk law permitting producer-dealer bargaining on milk prices and the state-federal pact regulating milk marketed in New York city.

An effort to decrease the time, now approximately a week, which must elapse, under two existing statutes, between the issuance of a marriage license and the wedding.

Landorship by the Affiliated Young Democrats, Inc., of several proposals by Governor Lehman and their recommendation for "prompt action" for creation of the council he urged to study youth problems.

Comptroller Tremaine asserted that, in contrast to indirect taxation, a "direct" levy would be figured once and would be spread over so many people, the cost would probably not be nearly as heavy on the consumer.

Reduction of the waiting period before marriage will be discussed in conferences slated for next week between authors of two existing laws, city clerks, church representatives and others.

Democratic Assemblyman Charles Breitbart, Brooklyn, co-author of the Desmond-Breitbart Act requiring examination for syphilis of prospective newlyweds, said agreement would be sought on amendments to both statutes intended to cut the waiting period at least two days.

He explained that checking of the examination results, filed with application for a marriage license, takes three or four days.

The law authorized by Assemblywoman Jane Todd, Westchester county, to halt so-called "gin marriages" she once said had been connected in New York city night clubs, then requires an additional lapse of 72 hours before the ceremony, he added.

The Affiliated Young Democrats, Inc., also urged, in their legislative program, speedy action on a "liberal" housing program, wage and hour legislation to coincide with federal statutes, and consolidation of New York city colleges into a university.

Ulster-Greene Council Holds Yearly Scout Meeting Last Night and Receives Report

The tenth annual dinner of the Ulster-Greene Council, Boy Scouts of America, was held at the Governor Clinton Hotel Tuesday night. The attendance of 75 was lower than in some years past, accounted for largely by the fact that it was confined almost entirely to those who had a real interest in the work of the council. Last year, a peak year, there were many guests present, including about 40 Scouts, an innovation which was not followed this year.

Interesting features of the program included the awards of prizes for the best posters submitted at the time of the finance campaign last fall, the award of the coveted Silver Beaver to Floyd L. Spencer, fourth member of the

Changes in Nazi Official Lineup Rumored in Berlin

Goering to Get Important
Vice-Chancellorship, Become Minister of War; Goebbels
Would Quit Propaganda

Berlin, Jan. 18 (AP)—Rumors of far-reaching changes in the Nazi administration involving such men as Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels and others were current in Berlin today.

They coincided with the return to his desk in the propaganda ministry of Goebbels after nearly a month's illness. Official sources declined to confirm or deny them.

According to these reports, circulated by men usually in a position to know, Goering will shortly become vice chancellor and minister of war. Both posts have been vacant for some time—the vice chancellorship since Franz von Papen, its last holder, was made special ambassador to Austria after the assassination of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss in 1934, and the war ministry since the resignation of Field Marshal Werner von Blomberg in February, 1938.

Goering now is chief of the four-year economic self-sufficiency plan and air minister, in addition to holding numerous lesser posts. The additional appointments would make him more conspicuous than ever: Germany's No. 2 man.

Goebbels, according to the reported new setup, would be placed above all other gauleiters, or Nazi district leaders, as obergauleiter. At the same time, the rumors said, he will be appointed state treasurer, or governor, of the greater Berlin district.

He will retain his status as minister of the Reich but no longer will be in charge of the propaganda and press department, it was said. Under the reported plans the propaganda ministry would become attached directly to the chancellery with Secretary of State Otto Dietrich, Chancellor Hitler's personal press chief, in charge.

Men from the foreign office then would conduct relations with the foreign press. Goering would take over the direction of theatres, motion pictures and the radio, now in Goebbels' hands.

After recovery from his illness, Goebbels spent some days at Hitler's mountain home on Obersalzberg, near Berchtesgaden, while the fuhrer himself went to Berlin for the opening of the new chancellery and the new year reception to the diplomatic corps January 12.

Other rumors said that Dr. Wilhelm Frick, interior minister, would be retired on a pension. He will be 62 in March. He may be given the status of an elder statesman with reference to domestic policy, much as Baron Konstantin von Neurath, ex-foreign minister and president of the secret cabinet council, holds in respect to foreign affairs.

In his place at the interior ministry would be named Heinrich Himmler, chief of all German police and of the black uniformed SS (elite guards) troops. Political observers see in such moves, if they are to be made, Hitler's policy of always balancing moderates and radicals. If Goering's appointment as vice-chancellor be regarded as a victory for the moderates, Himmler's elevation to the interior ministry would be an offset pleasing to the radicals.

All this still is in the stage of talk in circles regarded as well informed. All admit, however, that in this situation, as in all other matters, one man and one man only decides—Hitler.

Lehman Asks Broader Powers to Investigate 'Corruption,' Agencies

Governor Would Permit Comptroller to Report
Irregularities; Would Get Power to Begin Investigations; Would Create State Department of Justice and Bring About Other Reforms

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 18 (AP)—Broader powers for the governor and other state officials to deal with local "corruption" and to initiate investigations of local government agencies was urged by Governor Lehman today.

In his first special message to the 1939 legislature, which some sources interpreted as a reply to District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's campaign charges against alleged "crime in government," the governor recommended law revisions which also would:

Permit the comptroller, upon discovery of evidence of "irregularities" in municipal accounts, to report to the governor, the attorney-general and the local district attorney.

Empower the governor to initiate investigations of local governmental agencies.

Broaden and clarify the governor's powers to supersede district attorneys.

Authorize creation of a state department of justice.

Require one grand jury in each county annually to investigate disposition of indictments more than 12 months old.

Prohibit a district attorney in any county of more than 120,000 population from engaging in private law practice.

"I am certain that the adoption of these recommendations will have a most salutary effect," the governor said. "They will strengthen the hand of the state in guarding its citizens from the danger that their local governments may fall into the hands of corrupt office holders."

"They will strike fear into the hearts of dishonest officials," he added. They will raise the morale of honest public servants. Above all, they will increase the people's respect for and confidence in their public officials and their government."

"There is no sound reason why state supervision over local agencies should be limited to the affairs of fiscal officers," Lehman said. "The people should be given full protection against fraud, embezzlement or any other wrongful acts by other public officers and agents. We will not give it to them merely by tightening state supervision over municipal accounts."

"The financial departments of municipalities are not the only ones which present opportunities to dishonest officers to defraud or injure the taxpayer. There have been instances of corrupt practices in other departments of our local governmental units."

"There have even been cases where local agencies created by legislative authority have fallen prey to unscrupulous office holders," the governor said. "Yet the state is almost powerless to intervene. Some of these local public officers are subject to removal by the governor, but the governor must await presentation of formal charges. This condition should be corrected. The governor should be given the power to initiate investigations of local governmental agencies."

Ex-Senator Dies Of Heart Attack

Edward P. Costigan, 64, Is Stricken Last Night; Left
Public Life in 1936

Denver, Jan. 18 (AP)—Former U. S. Senator Edward P. Costigan, a leader of the liberal bloc that eventually enacted a New Deal program incorporating many governmental theories he long had advocated, died last night of a heart attack at 64.

Illness forced Costigan to retire from public life in 1936 after six years in the Senate.

Costigan left the Republican party to become the unsuccessful Progressive candidate for Colorado governor in 1912 and 1914, became a Democrat in 1916 and was appointed to the tariff commission by President Wilson.

Costigan was a co-author of the Jones-Costigan sugar act, later expanded into the present program which gives sugar beet farmers direct benefit payments, and was one of the first senators to urge direct federal relief for the jobless.

Mrs. Mabel C. Costigan, the widow, and Miss Josephine Roche, former assistant secretary of the treasury, were at the former senator's bedside when he died.

Woodring Favors 200 Million Bond Issue for Panama Locks

Secretary Would Have Project Added to Defense
Program, Contents Bonds Could Be Retired
From Canal Receipts—Would Be Designed for Military Use as Alternate Route

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—Secretary Woodring, it was learned today, has recommended a bond issue to finance a third set of Panama Canal locks.

He suggested the $200,000,000 project to Congress as a part of the defense program, contending the bonds could be retired out of canal receipts.

Woodring was reported to have told House and Senate military committees that about $8,000,000 of the annual receipts of $13,000,000 could be used for the bonds. The new locks, designed primarily for military use, would provide an alternate route across the isthmus in case of attack.

Woodring's testimony before the committees has been in closed session and no formal announcement has been made of the canal proposal. Details of the project were not disclosed, but if previous plans are followed that the new locks probably would be from one to four miles from the existing ones.

President Roosevelt recommended in his defense message the expenditure of $27,000,000 to maintain an adequate peace garrison in the Canal Zone, but did not mention additional locks.

Discussion of the whole defense program, entailing an additional $25,000,000 over ordinary budget requirements, was resumed today at both ends of the capitol.

The House military committee called Major General H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air corps, for more details on the proposal to build the corps up to approximately 5,500 planes.

Arnold, 52, has been chief of the corps since Major General Oscar Westover was killed in a crash last September. He has indicated recently that speed as well as numbers is an objective of the corps, and he said at Detroit this month that experts were talking of 500 miles an hour as a practical possibility for planes.

Meanwhile, Senator Reynolds (D., N. C.) said he planned to introduce a bill to provide military training for Civilian Conservation Corps enrollees, although it is opposed by Mr. Roosevelt.

To Decide Status
Detroit, Jan. 18 (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union, huge CIO unit which claims a membership of nearly 400,000 prepared formal notices today calling locals to a special convention to decide, principally, the status of President Homer Martin. The convention, by declaration of the union's anti-Martin executive board yesterday, will open in Cleveland on March 20.

Pittsburgh, Jan. 18 (AP)—Company officials estimated at $20,000 today the damage from a gas explosion and fire in the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation's new $25,000,000 south side strip mill. Six workmen were injured, three seriously.

Included in President's 1939 Legislative Program Would Be Health, Railroads and Philippine Trade

Expects Approval

Chief Executive Expects Senate to Back His Nominations to Major Posts

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—President Roosevelt, approaching the half-way mark of his second term, began rounding out today his 1939 legislative program for expansion of New Deal social and economic agencies and for finding new sources of revenue.

With his budget, emergency relief, defense and social security recommendations already made, he let it be known that in the next few days he would ask Congress to grapple with:

Further taxation.
A national health program.
Railroad rehabilitation.
Philippine trade.

Little legislation has reached the Senate and House floors, but committees rapidly are getting it into shape. Two committees were studying the President's $552,000,000 armament program, and a Senate subcommittee was holding hearings on his request for relief funds, from which the House trimmed $150,000,000.

Expects Senate Approval
In addition, it appeared that by Friday—second anniversary of his second inauguration—Mr. Roosevelt would have Senate approval of the last of his recent major appointments.

The nomination of Harry Hopkins to be secretary of commerce was before the commerce committee today and is expected to be approved by a Senate vote tomorrow.

The Senate approved without debate yesterday the nomination of Prof. Felix Frankfurter of Harvard as a Supreme Court justice. Frank Murphy was confirmed as attorney general, 73 to 7, after three hours of Republican denunciation.

Mr. Roosevelt told reporters yesterday he would send a message to Congress again urging a law providing for reciprocal taxation of federal and state salaries and the income from future federal and state bonds now in the tax-exempt class.

He proposed this last April, but Congress did nothing about it. It has been estimated upwards of $100,000,000 in new revenues would accrue from such levies.

Looks With Disfavor
Mr. Roosevelt also made it plain that he looks with disfavor on a processing tax to help finance the farm benefit program, advocated at various times by Secretary Wallace.

Besides his tax message, Mr. Roosevelt said he would send a short recommendation to Congress Monday in transmitting the report of his interdepartmental committee on health. This report proposes a cooperative national health program starting off with a $50,000,000 appropriation.

The President was not certain he would send a message on the railroad problem, since, he said, most of the information needed was already at hand.

A Philippine-American committee report asking a 14-year extension beyond 1946 of preferential tariff treatment for Philippine products entering this country will go to the Capitol soon, but the President may not add any recommendations of his own.

Licenses Asked

Bennett's Assistants Favor
Act for Public Accountants to Punish Guilty Ones

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Licensing of all public accountants in New York state so that those guilty of unethical practices could be punished, has been recommended to Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr.

The recommendations of his aides, Ambrose V. McCall and Max Furman, resulted from a study of "certain fundamental weaknesses in the preparation of financial statements" as disclosed in their investigation of the McKesson & Robbins scandal.

Copies of their report, made after a conference January 8 with representatives of accountants' societies, will be sent to the state board of regents and to legislative leaders.

council to receive this outstanding award and the address by Hugh O'Donnell, veteran newspaperman, traveler and former business manager of the New York Times.

President Richard F. Overbush presided at the dinner and the program which followed. In welcoming the guests he remarked that this was his third attempt to sing a "swan song," as on two previous occasions he had come prepared to turn over the reins of office. In his brief remarks he took occasion to thank especially Paul Zucca and Dan Bittner for the interest they had taken year after year in furnishing the music and leading the singing for the annual banquet.

President Overbush then presented the new officers and district representatives who had been elected at the annual business meeting that afternoon. They are:

Dr. H. W. Keator, Kingston, president.
Dr. L. H. van den Berg, New Paltz; C. D. Raymond, Ellenville; J. Frank Lackey, Tannersville; R. P. Overbush, Saugerties, vice presidents.

Arthur J. Burns, Kingston, treasurer.
Sidney K. Clapp, Kingston, commissioner.

District Representatives:
Mountain District—Fred Kipp, G. Richard Ham, George W. Osborn.

Saugerties District—William Westendiek, Grant D. Morse, Fred Toms.

Kingston District—George Matheison, Eugene A. Freer, Harry Halverson.

Rondout District—Leland C. Cure, Edward G. West, W. H. Crutcher.

Southern District—H. Karl Ernst, E. L. Dalby, J. W. Glauz.

Members at large of the council: Roger H. Loughran, B. C. Van Ingen, G. Wallace Codwine, the Hon. Joseph M. Fowler, Kingston; Joe LeFevre, Dr. R. G. West, New Paltz; Fred Hebling, West Catskill; Donovan Brockitt, Catskill; S. B. Schwarzwald, Chichester; Thomas P. Wayne, John C. Sauer, John F. Carnright, Saugerties.

Dr. H. W. Keator, the new president, was introduced and spoke. He thanked the council for the honor that had been given him and promised his best efforts for the coming year, saying that he was following a man who had given unsparringly 25 years of his life for the advancement of scouting and work for the boys.

He stressed as objectives for the year 1939: A membership of 1,000 Scouts in the council, saying that there were 3,500 potential Scouts in the area; a balanced budget; closer cooperation between the scoutmasters of the various troops and the executive board of the council.

Commissioner Sidney K. Clapp was called upon to present the Silver Beaver award to Floyd L. Spencer, scoutmaster of Troop 12 of Kingston. The award is made by the National Council and is given for outstanding work for boys. Mr. Clapp told how Floyd had taken over Troop 12 when it was in a demoralized condition and how under his leadership it became one of the outstanding troops in the council. He had inspired the boys to achieve higher rank and 15 had become Eagle Scouts, with a number adding points to their badges. He had established a patrol to which only Eagle Scouts were eligible. A scout patrol was inaugurated under his leadership and is still functioning. Another of his projects was the Scout paper, the "Flying Eagle," edited and run by Scouts and still going after five years. At least four of his older Scouts have taken charge of other troops in the city. In addition, under his guidance, two log cabins have been built in the woods and are open to the boys for over-night camping. In conclusion, Mr. Clapp said: "In all my experience of nearly 30 years as scoutmaster in all branches of the Boy Scouts of America, I have rarely, if ever, seen a man more worthy of real recognition than Floyd Lewis Spencer."

Harry L. Edson awarded the prizes won by those participating in the poster contest. The first prize of $3 went to Virginia Johnson of Kingston High School; second prize of $2 to Frank Bell of Kingston; and third prize of $1 to Anne Carr of Tannersville. In addition the winners were guests at the banquet. Honorable mention was given to Gale Pesley and Judith Cohn, Woodstock; Helen Lowe, Kingston; Douglas Van Valkenburgh, Tannersville; Dorothy Kolts, Kingston.

Paul Maholech, scout leader for the Catholic Youth Organization, was introduced, but confined his remarks to extending an invitation to all to attend the World Fair in New York this year.

It is the plan of your finance committee to have the council free of debt within three years and in order to do this we may have to curtail some of the services, but we feel that it is the opinion of every Scoutmaster that this should be done so we may balance our budget and proceed on a sound financial basis. We ask your cooperation with the council office to make this possible.

Organization Committee

S. K. Clapp, Commissioner
As of December 31, 1938, there were 44 Scout troops in the council, compared with 42 the year before; membership was 841 compared with 772 December 31, 1937.

At present there are 382 Tenderfoot Scouts, 274 Second Class, 66 First Class, 83 Star, 39 Life, 20 Eagle Scouts.

Sixteen troops, with 66 Scouts, were organized during the past year; four troops with 53 Scouts were dropped.

Camping Committee

The 1938 camp season was an outstanding one in that the council reached a new high in number of different boys attending number of boy week units, and percentage of Scouts in the council at camp. The following figures show the record:

1934 1935 1936 1937 1938

No. different Scouts 121 107 134 97 150

No. Troops represented 26 22 25 20 25

No. boy week units 214 189 209 163 222

Percentage of membership 13.1 15. 18.1 15.1 22.8

We should be proud of this showing and look forward to the 1939 season with plans for having a bigger and better camp.

The second annual Council Camp-o-ree was held on June 3-4-5 at Kingston and the reports of this event are such that the troops and Scouts taking part certainly gave a fine exhibition of their camping ability. It is this type of publicity which is what Scouting needs to show the public what it is doing for the boys of this Council.

It has been impossible for this committee to get a complete report of all the camping done by the individual troops, but it is safe to say that nearly all of them have had many fine camping experiences, either as over-night, or day hikes and we hope they may continue this good work.

Your committee on camping and activity urges every troop to start now planning what week it will come to camp Half Moon, either with its own leadership or making use of the Council staff. We also ask that leaders having any suggestions regarding any improvement of the service of Camp Half Moon put these in writing so the committee may consider them in setting up plans for 1939.

Respectfully,
Fred S. VanVoorhis,
Chairman Camp Committee

Camp Director's Report

The 1938 Camp Half Moon season was very successful both from a material and a character building standpoint.

It is inherent in our nature as Americans to wish to get away from the security of our homes and to live in the open with nature, left on our resources. In short, Americans, especially boys, are extremely fond of camping.

It was the objective of the Camp staff to develop this ability of resourcefulness, appreciation of our fellows, and a love and understanding for nature. In the files kept by the director and staff are certain proofs that camp is a marvelous character builder.

The figures for the 1938 season tell an interesting story: Camp Half Moon functioned on a 222 week basis. This is the largest number of boy weeks in the history of the camp. For the first time in some years the camp showed a financial profit. This may be traced to three things:

First, the council has grown. Camp should and must increase in numbers relatively.

Second, the camp was advertised widely both by the council and boy alumni.

Third, many boys stayed on for a longer period than was formerly decided.

Considering the above facts we must contemplate wider advertising. Boys who have been at camp are the best advertisers.

Boys who have been at camp, its program and constructive boy building should probably be more widely advertised.

It is probable that the camp could function with a smaller staff than it has in some previous years. Some cut in staff would not be harmful; too much would hamper an otherwise efficient and effective program.

Camp Half Moon might well be used as the setting for the annual camporee. This would be a real camping experience. It would be an actual stimulation toward a desire to do real camping. It would also be a fine advertisement for Camp Half Moon.

It is the opinion of the staff that too few laymen show an active interest in the camp. A scoutmaster's training class, covering camping with a Scoutmaster's Day on Sunday would have, perhaps, a wide-reaching effect.

Camp Half Moon is run for our boys. In the final analysis they are the ones who should be considered in every step we take and in any situation with which we are confronted. The boys are our raw material and our final finished product.

Respectfully submitted,
HOWARD MOSHER,
Camp Director.

Leadership Training Committee

During 1938 the following training courses were held:

Three afternoon and evening sessions during the spring for Troop Committee: Hunter, 14 committee; Cairo, 14 committee; Kingston, 13 committee.

Three courses for Scoutmasters: Kingston, 6 scoutmasters; Catskill, 7 scoutmasters; Hunter, 17 scoutmasters.

A second series of the same course was held and the following attended: Kingston, 2 troop committee; Hunter, 2 troop committee; Hunter, 5 troop committee; Kingston, 5 troop committee; Kingston, 5 troop committee; Kingston, 5 troop committee.

The National Council has just revised its five year training program and requirements for the Scoutmaster and Scoutmaster Keys. It is the hope of your committee that we may so organize our training program gear in with theirs that the men taking training may get credit towards these keys.

I personally urge each scoutmaster and troop officer to get as much training as possible so that the material received may be passed on to your troop and give the Scouts a better and broader troop program.

Respectfully,
Clarence L. Dumm, Chairman,
Leadership Training Committee.

Civil Service Committee

Nearly every troop in this Council area either was called on to do some type of civic service or created an opportunity for such service. In every case the Scouts did a creditable job and we should be proud of the showing they made. It is too bad that more of them haven't reported their service so it could be included in this report.

The services range all the way from serving as guides and ushers, participating in parades, assisting at church functions, to helping with Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets. Troops reporting were: Troop No. 6 of Kingston; Troop No. 3, Kingston; Troop No. 11, Kingston; Troop No. 26, Port Ewen; Troop No. 42, Greenvale.

Educational Publicity Committee

Your committee has endeavored to supply speakers on Scouting subjects not only to troops but to all other organizations upon request.

Again we wish to acknowledge the fine cooperation which we have received from the press in the two counties. The dailies and weeklies have given us without charge a great amount of space and through this we have been able to reach many people who otherwise would not know about Scouting and its advantages to the boys of this Council.

The outstanding events of the year were the annual Scoutmaster banquet, the second annual Camporee, and the summer camp activities, which received good publicity in our papers.

Your committee hopes that during 1939 we may continue to have as much favorable publicity as possible.

Respectfully,
R. M. Loughman, Chairman,
Educational Publicity Committee.

Health and Safety Committee

During the past year your committee has continued to see that each boy entering Scouting was given a physical examination free of charge and we wish to thank the physicians who have given of their time to make this possible.

Each scout is also given a check-up before going to camp and after arrival a re-check so that we may be well protected as well as the boys.

Your chairman and executive have been working on a plan whereby the state police will cooperate with us in making a safety inspection of each troop meeting room and also assist in safety work. I hope this plan may work out for certainly the members of the state police force have valuable information which we could use.

Respectfully,
H. W. Keator, M. D.,
Chairman Health and Safety Committee.

Advancement Committee

It is with pride that your chairman presents the following summary of the work done by the Scouts and Scouters of this council in the advancement program.

I wish to give the credit where due and that is to the Scouts and leaders of the troops who have made this record possible, also calling your attention to the fact that with the district chairman of courts of honor giving of their time and urging to advance and setting definite dates, has it been possible for us to offer Scouts the opportunity to advance.

Districts holding courts of honor during 1938: Mountain, 3; Northern, 4; Saugerties, 3; Kingston, 2; Western, 5; Rondout Valley, 3; Southern, 2; Camp, 2; Council, 1.

Awards for 1938: Tenderfoot, 305; Second Class, 226; First Class, 93; Star, 64; Life, 33; Eagle, 11; Eagle Palms, 6; Merit Badges, 1,061.

I feel that some of this improvement is due to the setting of regular dates for each district court and I hope each district will continue to do this. We must keep in mind the fact that each Scout should have an opportunity to receive his awards as soon as possible after he has earned them.

It is not said by any of our Scouts, "We can't get advancement because we can't have a court of honor."

Respectfully,
H. W. COONS,
Chairman Advancement Com.

Scout Executive's Report

The reports of the council committees and the comments of your president give a very fine record of what Scouting has done for the boys of this area. It has been a year of growth and I believe this council has set a new membership record of 44 troops and 844 Scouts. To William A. Wright and each Scoutmaster who worked on the team goes the credit for this fine showing.

Let us see what the future holds for our council as we enter a new year realizing that our aims and objectives are set only for the interest of boys.

Aims and Objectives, 1939: Administration: Active council committee chairman with strong functioning committees.

Accurate administration of finances with full financial support from the territory.

Proper troop supervision by a trained staff of district commissioners with the end in mind of troop service to give boy satisfaction.

Maintaining the council office service of records, supplies, correspondence, training extension and supervision of scouting.

Organization of 9 new troops and a gain over 1938 of 126 Scouts.

Further promotion of the Senior Scouting program.

Closer cooperation between troop committee and scoutmasters.

A more comprehensive program of educational publicity to inform the public of the importance of Scout training.

Training: Offering to our leaders the new 5-year training program as suggested by the National Council and leading to the scoutmaster and scoutmaster keys.

Setting up definite training requirements for all leaders before commission is granted.

Activities: Annual meeting of council with all scoutmaster banquet.

National Anniversary Week: A. District rallies; B. Scout Sunday; C. School participation; D. Broadcasts.

E—Fall and winter hiking and camping.

I wish to thank every man who has given time and thought to the Scouts of this Council. I know we can accomplish our objectives if we keep the boys constantly before us and follow the above objectives only to the end that it best serves us in our endeavor to give him real Scout training.

Respectfully submitted,
R. G. BURNS,
Scout Executive.

New York, Jan. 17.—Members of the Dairyman's League Cooperative Association, Inc., delivering milk at Poughkeepsie, will receive a net pool return of $2.28 per hundredweight for 3.7 milk delivered during December, it was announced today.

The Association's net pool return at the 201-210 mile zone is $2.01, including an average city and location differential of six cents.

Decline in the December return of six cents below that for November is attributed by league officials to higher production and a great percentage of milk going into surplus outlets. League members produced 8,145,000 pounds more milk last month than they did in November. The volume marketed in surplus classifications was 14,052,000 pounds higher than November.

Game Department Issues Warning

Albany, Jan. 18.—Ice fishermen in all parts of the state today were advised by the conservation department to comply with all provisions of the law which prohibits the taking of certain species of fish through the ice by means of tip-ups.

Instructions issued to the entire game protective force call for full enforcement of the department's tip-up order. The warning to all sportsmen engaged in this rigorous winter sport was prompted by reports that many ice fishermen were catching crappie or calico bass by using tip-ups.

This species of fish, department officials said, is not specifically mentioned in the tip-up order and therefore, cannot be legally taken in this manner.

Department officials pointed out that some confusion might exist in the minds of ice fishermen because of the very close similarity which crappies bear to sunfish. Of these two species only sunfish may be taken through the ice by means of tip-ups.

During the past few years the crappie has become very plentiful in many lakes and ponds throughout the state.

Gift of 35,857 Acres of Land Given Boy Scouts

TULSA, OKLA.—A gift from Mr. and Mrs. Waite Phillips of this city of 35,857 acres of land a few miles northwest of Cimarron, N. M., and $50,000 to be used in improving and developing the land for camping purposes, has just been accepted by the executive board of the National Council, Boy Scouts of America.

The property is in the Rocky mountains, all above an elevation of 7,000 feet and rises in spots to at least 11,000 feet. It is the Kit Carson territory and the old Santa Fe trail passes through it. There are nine main canyons on the tract converging either at the Cimarron river or the main branch of the Poudre river, which later flows into the Cimarron.

Much of the property is virgin territory and under the careful management characteristic of Boy Scout camping those small parts which have been grazed recently will quickly be restored to their natural conditions.

Food Merchants Are Organized

A mass meeting of food merchants attended by retailers and wholesalers from Kingston and surrounding communities was held last evening at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium. As a result of the meeting a permanent organization was formed among the food men of the locality.

Sponsored by the New York State Food Merchants Association represented by William A. Philo, director of Schenectady and John F. Murray, secretary, of Syracuse, the meeting was well attended. Mr. Philo acted as chairman and Mr. Murray was the speaker. Mr. Murray urged the necessity of organization and support of pending legislation.

At the conclusion of Mr. Murray's talk a local organization was formed when Clifford Rose was nominated as chairman, Stanley M. Winne as secretary and Samuel Meisinger as treasurer to serve as temporary officers until next week, when a permanent organization will be formed and officers elected.

It is the hope of the organization that every dealer interested in the merchandising of food in Ulster county will avail himself of the opportunity by attending the meeting next Tuesday evening January 24, at 8 o'clock at the Municipal Auditorium on Broadway and lend their support to a movement intended to correct some of the evils of the retail trade.

Two Shot Down

The men shot were identified as William Culbertson, 24, and his brother, Robert, 17, both of Toledo. The elder was killed.

Note of Hope: Dawes Predicts Future Peace

Chicago, Jan. 18 (AP)—General Charles G. Dawes, who shared the Nobel Peace Prize with Elr Austen Chamberlain in 1925, predicted today an enduring European peace would emerge from parleys now in progress among Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy.

In an address prepared for delivery before the Chicago Association of Commerce, General Dawes said:

"I believe ... that out of the negotiations already in progress between the four great powers of Britain, France, Germany and Italy there will finally result an enduring peace, with the might of the four powers pledged to protect it not simply as a matter of policy but as a matter of their individual self-interest."

Lehman Asks Broader Powers

Lehman's power to appoint a "Moraload commissioner" to examine state departments is extended to include county, city, town or village agencies of government, the governor said.

"He should file a report with the governor. The attorney general should have concurrent jurisdiction with the district attorney to prosecute any violations of law disclosed by the Moraload commissioner."

The chief executive urged that his power to supersede local district attorneys and appoint special prosecutors be enlarged and added.

"It is sometimes necessary not only that the district attorney be superseded but that a special prosecutor be appointed. There is general belief that the governor may and does, in such cases, designate the special prosecutor."

"But this is not the fact. The governor can merely suggest to the attorney general that he appoint a special assistant. ... I recommend, therefore, that the governor be authorized not only to supersede district attorneys but also to designate special prosecutors when the public interest requires it."

Urging that the attorney general also be given concurrent jurisdiction in the prosecution of any "corruption or misconduct" found in examination of municipal accounts by the comptroller, the governor explained:

"In the last few years, state auditors have uncovered records of defalcations or irregularities on the part of some of these (local) officials. It was sometimes found that the very officers who were charged with the duty of watching over and guarding the public interest were abusing it. ... When citizens thus find themselves at the mercy of local officials who prove unworthy of their trust, they naturally turn to the state for aid. The state comptroller's power, however, does not extend beyond that of investigation."

"Very often the prosecution of the fraud is turned over to local authorities who are friends or political allies of the guilty individuals. This certainly does not encourage public confidence."

The governor reiterated past recommendations for creation of a state department of justice and said it should be "modeled upon the federal department of justice."

Central Hudson Honors Four Men For Long Service

Three faithful employees of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation were honored last evening at a party held at Clinton Ford Pavilion, Rosendale, when the men were feted on their retirement from service. A fourth man was honored for completion of 40 years of service with the corporation and allied companies.

Among those who extended congratulations to the three retiring men and the fourth member for his long service with the company was President Ernest R. Acker of the corporation and A. L. Colligan, Kingston district manager, under whom the men had served the company.

Completing their services with the corporation and retiring from active service was Asa Buddington who has been superintendent of the Jansen avenue sub-station at Kingston; Joseph Smith, Kingston construction line-man foreman and Fred Yake, maintenance man at the Dashiell hydro-electric plant at Rifton.

Edward W. Leverett, who is still in active service of the corporation after 40 years of service, was awarded a 40 year gold service button. Mr. Leverett is superintendent of the gas department street crews.

As a token of appreciation the three retiring employees were presented with gold pocket watches and in addition to his service button Mr. Leverett was presented with a pen and pencil set.

The steak dinner, elaborately served to 135 employees and officers of the corporation, was followed by the presenting of the tokens of appreciation to the retiring members and to Mr. Leverett. There were remarks by Thomas Reynolds, Kingston line foreman supervisor, and by Howard Runk of the Poughkeepsie engineering department, who for 17 years had worked with Mr. Buddington during the rebuilding and operation of the Jansen avenue station. Clayton Smith, Kingston operation superintendent, also spoke and Henry Eiting of Kingston, service supervisor, presented Mr. Leverett with his 40 year service button.

The presentation of the gold watch to Mr. Smith was made by Clarence Wolfenstein and Jack Rasmussen made the presentation to Mr. Buddington. As a former associate of Mr. Yake the presentation of the watch to him was made by Louis Pakowicz of Rifton, who worked with Mr. Yake for many years.

Replies were made by the retiring men and also Mr. Leverett. As toastmaster of the meeting was J. O. Fuchs of Poughkeepsie, superintendent of hydro plants. Remarks were also made to the honored men and to the other employees by T. A. Corbie, general gas superintendent, now at Poughkeepsie, but formerly Kingston general superintendent, by H. E. Dexter, general commercial manager of the Central Hudson system, and others.

A word of welcome was given the guests by A. L. Colligan, Kingston district manager. In his remarks President Acker expressed his thanks to the four men being honored for their faithful service to the corporation, and also expressed his thanks to all of the employees for their loyalty and faithfulness to the company.

There was collective singing by the guests under the leadership of Everett Schutt, employee of the company and also president of the Mendelssohn Club of Kingston. The new all-girl orchestra of the pavilion accompanied the singing.

Many Forced to Leave

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—James L. Houghteling, commissioner of immigration, said today that 18,553 aliens were forced to leave the United States last year compared with 17,617 in 1937. Immigrant arrivals including 11,917 German Jews numbered 67,935, compared with 50,244 in 1937.

Home Service Everybody's Happy Singing Cowboy Songs

There's a heart in the heart of Texas. Shy ones join in too!

Was there ever a warmer, friendlier party? Madge and Bill and Tom lead the singing—and the rest join in the chorus of HEART IN THE HEART OF TEXAS:

"Little stars in surprise blink their eyes
At the moonbeams kissing her hair,
There's a heart in the heart of Texas
Beating true blue just for me."

But you don't know the words, the tune? You'll quickly learn with a songbook of your favorites. Easy as rolling off a log to sing ballads like TWO GUN BONNIE:

"I'm gonna tell you 'bout a gal,
A wild sort of a devil,
She was tough as any hombre
but always on the level."

And to end the evening with a flourish, here's one everybody likes, HOME ON THE RANGE:

"Oh give me a home where the buffalo roam,
Where the deer and the antelope play,
Where never is heard a discouraging word,
And the skies are not cloudy all day."

Get your friends together and have a real old-fashioned song-fest. Our new songbook has 19 cowboy songs complete with words, music and piano accompaniments to swing you right into the old "Wild West."

Send 10c in coin for your copy of POPULAR COWBOY SONGS to The Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth avenue, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Directors Named By Stockholders

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Kingston Community Hotel Corp., operators of the Governor Clinton Hotel, held Tuesday evening the same board of directors was named and at the election of officers Senator Arthur H. Weeks was re-elected president; Peter A. Black, vice president; W. A. Anderson, treasurer; N. Jansen Fowler, assistant treasurer and Arthur J. Burns, secretary.

During the past year business at the hotel has been good according to the reports of the officers and although slightly off from the previous year compared very favorably with business done by similar establishments in cities comparable to Kingston.

Treadwell Elected Fairlawn Head

Cornelius S. Treadwell, president of Everett & Treadwell, Kingston wholesale grocers and sponsors of local Fairlawn grocery stores, has returned from the quarterly meeting of Fairlawn stores in New York city.

Mr. Treadwell was elected president of the Fairlawn Wholesalers' Association, an association of the jobbers for Fairlawn representing seven eastern states in which over 1,000 Fairlawn stores are operated.

The meeting was held at the Fairlawn headquarters in New York city Thursday and Friday.

Carroll Finds Second Purse

Freeman "lost and found service" apparently extends beyond the columns of The Freeman and to the Freeman truck driver, Arthur Carroll. Just before Christmas "Art" was driving a Freeman truck on routine work when he discovered a lost pocketbook. In the pocketbook was over $50, a Christmas check and other valuables. He promptly returned the lost pocketbook to the owner.

Again yesterday as "Art" was driving on Broadway near Dehl's store at Elmendorf street he noticed a pocketbook in the street. Stopping he was startled when he opened the pocketbook and found some $50 in cash, a diamond dinner ring, diamond ear-rings, diamond brooch and a pair of glasses and keys. On further search he found an address. Last evening he called at the address on St. James street and found Mrs. May Hartz very happy by restoring to her the missing articles. Incidentally, Mr. Carroll was very handsomely rewarded for the act.

Criminal Cases
Begin in Court

In county court this morning Fletcher Smith pleaded guilty to unlawful entry to a place in the town of Gardiner and as a result was given six months in the Ulster county jail, but Judge Traver suspended execution of the sentence during good behavior and placed Smith on probation. John M. Cashin appeared for Smith.

Freeman Frederick of Lloyd, charged with rape, second degree, growing out of an affair at Lloyd last summer, pleaded guilty to the charge. A. J. Cook appeared for the defendant. Frederick has been examined by medical authorities and probably will be committed to Napanoch Institution later today.

In the case of Fred A. Rhodes who was charged with passing a bad check at a Grand Union store in Highland, the indictment was dismissed. Rhodes has made good the amount of the check and the prosecution asked that the matter be dropped. The application for dismissal was granted by Judge Traver.

It was announced that five of the so called "gambling" cases would be disposed of next Monday. The cases which will come up at that time are the charges against Anthony Adala, also known as Tony Costa, Benny Adala alias Benny Costa, Albert J. Partlan and Linus Quinn, John Durham, Edward P. Decker, Leslie Decker, Shale Alcon, Jasper Martallo.

Court recessed until 2 o'clock this afternoon when additional matters will be disposed of.

Taxpayers Seek Budget Reduction

A resolution asking for a 25 per cent cut in the 1939 state budget was adopted by the executive committee of the Ulster County Taxpayers' Council meeting at Marlborough. The group voted to join the state-wide movement of citizens asking for a reduction of expenditures for the coming year and curtailment of the budget demands.

The council is to ask all taxpayers in the county to take part in this "cut-the-budget" movement.

Their resolution adopted called attention to the fact that last year's budget was for $393,000,000 with expenditures now amounting to over a million dollars a day. This vast outlay is costing each family $1 a day in taxes and with reduced incomes the group held that the public was unable to pay. Beside a 25 per cent reduction in the budget for 1939 the group by resolution adopted, asked that adequate public hearings be held on the budget so the voice of the public might be heard through representatives.

"YANK AT OXFORD"

That's about the only line in the book for this picture of Whizzer White, the all-America football player and Rhodes scholar, and an English admirer who's doing his best to keep up with him. The Whizzer is shown at Oxford where he immediately won the sports writers' friendship, despite traditional English dislike for American football. The girl's name? ... Betty Noland.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calumet—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go.

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up."

Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Before anything else. At all drug stores. 10¢ and 25¢.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Cowed
Prince Frederick, Md.—John Bond and his shiny new automobile lost a one-round decision to a cow.

They met the cow at a bridge over a small stream. She blocked their path. Angry at Bond's attempts to pass, the cow lowered her head and nudged Bond and his car into the stream. No one was hurt—least of all the cow.

Honest No Help
Phoenix, Ariz.—Police man James Russell stopped a young negro who was looking into a parked automobile and arrested him although the latter had not stolen anything, honestly answered all questions.

"What are you doing?" was Russell's query.

"Prowling," was the quick reply.

"Well, have you taken anything?"

"No, I haven't—I can't find anything."

"Uncle" Falls Him
Joplin, Mo.—Loren Stanley, 35, on trial on a vagrancy charge, pleaded Uncle Sam was his supporter and he, therefore, could not by a vagrant—a person "without visible means of support."

To back his argument, Stanley called witnesses from the federal relief office to testify he had been given funds for rent and food. But Prosecutor Roy Coyne was unimpressed. He argued federal relief did not constitute "visible means of support."

The jury agreed—Stanley was sentenced to jail for six months.

Catfish Swims
Chicago—When bass swims a catfish, it should be worth $10,000, thinks Nathan Ruttenberg.

He filed suit for that amount in Circuit Court charging that a playful tavern customer named Elmer Bass picked up a live catfish—his fish—and hit him with it, inflicting injuries which have kept him from work.

The suit was brought under the Dram Shop Act against the owners of the tavern and the lot on which the tavern stands.

Deaths from bronchitis in the United States have decreased 93 per cent since 1900, according to U. S. Census Bureau.

Charities Drive Opening Marked With Services

The thirteenth annual Day of Recollection for Catholic Social workers in the New York Archdiocese was marked by all day ceremonies yesterday at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, 152 West 71 Street, (Manhattan) and closed with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament celebrated by the pastor, the Right Rev. Monsignor Robert F. Keegan, executive director of New York Catholic Charities.

The Day of Recollection services yesterday marked the start of the twentieth year of New York Catholic Charities as organized by the late Patrick Cardinal Hayes, and the first year without his active leadership and direction.

This morning a solemn Pontifical Mass and sermon by the Most Rev. Stephen J. Donahue, D.D., Administrator of the Archdiocese of New York and a Communion breakfast for the headquarters and field staffs of New York Catholic Charities will conclude the annual retreat.

Nearly 400 New York Catholic Charities clerical and lay workers from the 10 counties in the archdiocese Monday heard the Rev. Peter J. Dolan, S.J., of St. Robert's Hall, Pomfret, Conn., preach at services which opened at 9:30 o'clock with a Mass celebrated by the Rev. Joseph S. O'Connell, pastor of the Church of the Epiphany, 239 East 21 Street, and assistant director of the Division of Health of New York Charities.

Describing the annual Day of Recollection as an opportunity "to bring home those truths which are obscured in the busy-busy of every day life" by the emphasis of a special occasion, Father Dolan launched an attack upon unclean literature and theatricals and upon night clubs.

In that moment, Petrel knew, "He is part of my life! I'll meet him again."

Chapter One

Peter and Petronella

DOWN the sandy coil of the drive came a brown, slenderly made little girl in a blue cotton dress. The bright flowers glowed on either side of her. On the entrance gate, in neat gold letters was printed "The Forest House." She walked slowly, with bent, bright head. Every now and then she made an eager dive forward, and scrubbed the ground with her once white handkerchief.

"Petrel! What are you doing?" She looked up, startled. But it was only James Randall, the cause of the trouble, leaning over the gate.

"Wiping up Peter's blood," she answered. Petronella Mallone was not angry with James.

"Aunt Maisie said if Peter fought you again she might send him to camp. She's fed up with all the things he's been doing." How had Maisie known he had been out all Monday night, watching the gipsies from the fair move camp? Petrel had let him in so quietly in the gray dawn. It had been another of Peter's experiments. He wanted to hear the things they said, and learn the trick of "behaving the Lady." She was the only person who understood that his adventures were sensible.

Few people meet their fate, when they are six years old. Petronella had, when she leaned over the ship-rail twelve years ago, and saw Peter and Aunt Maisie waiting on Tibury dockside. She had been afraid. What would he be like? She remembered Mother reading letters from Aunt Maisie; laughing at the naughty things he said. Father used to get angry, but she asked him what he expected, with an Irish Father and a Russian Mother. She had said "Make up your mind to it, Peter is born to trouble!"

Mother, dead! It frightened Petronella. After it had happened, in the white Indian hospital, Father had asked Mr. and Mrs. Grant to take her home. Soon, she would have only Peter.

But suddenly she had seen him. It was all right! Why, he was not even a stranger! She remembered that little dent in his chin, and that he had dusty eyelashes. Her brother! She was happy again.

Sorry if he gets into trouble! James started to help her.

"He never bleeds for long. But could you teach him to fight?"

"No, he's lighter, that's all." James felt a pang of jealousy. Petrel was good, for a girl. Peter was bowling to him for hours in the hot sun; letting him in at night. He'd have been killed in the tunnel, that time he wanted to discover what it felt like when the train came through, if she had not reached him just in time, to tell him about the shelters, hollowed in the walls. Peter said the rush of wind had pulled her skirt, and made her scream and scream.

There was a hooting at the corner of the private road. James ran. It was Maisie Mason.

"Gate please, Petrel!" she called crisply. Sitting bolt upright at the wheel she swept past, and pulled the car up with a jerk. She had seen James disappearing.

"Petrel, come here!" this taut woman, with the hat set straight on her gray head, could produce a voice like a sergeant major from within her small dry body. Petronella's heart hammered.

"Who won?" Maisie demanded.

"Who won?" James gasped.

"I thought he would!" In dumb, warm gratitude, Petrel climbed in beside her.

To look at Maisie Mason, it would have seemed impossible that she could be a good foster mother to two children. But it was so. For those who knew her, her very charmlessness possessed a charm of its own. She had been a school teacher. Fifteen years ago, she had inherited money, and had taken the neat, white gabled house in the Forest estate, above Ballfield village.

Life had given Maisie none of the things she had set out in youth, desiring. Her pretty younger sister had married the man she loved. She had taken Peter and Petronella.

tame summer for her. But it was exactly what Peter wanted.

"Here's your adversary." It was Tony Lance, looking very impressive in his light blue blazer. He was tall, dark, tawny eyed. There was something hard about his long featured, handsome face. Petronella thought. He looked intelligent, but reserved, critical. But the next moment she was being introduced to him. He smiled.

"How do you do?" For a moment, which seemed long, his unusual eyes met hers. But when he turned away she knew he had scarcely noticed her. She wished she were years older, beautiful and wearing frills, frills if only she could have held his attention.

Peter made his century. Sometimes fate moves forward by way of disappointments. Petrel helped plan, and pack the two bulky, adventurous looking rucksacks.

She and her father watched the ship move slowly away from the quay. It was half dark, strange as a dream. There was a smell of seaweed, and the portholes were golden light. Suddenly Petrel started. That man, standing on the first class deck! Something about the casual, brooding way he leaned on the rail was instantly familiar. Tony Lance! She remembered him. "He's a journalist. He's with the Daily News. He speaks four languages. He's going abroad again."

A light caught his face. In that moment, Petronella knew. She stood staring, forgetting to wave and shout to the boys. How could she feel so certain? The words were in her mind. "He is part of my life! I'll meet him again. I can't help it!"

Father asked, "What's the matter, Petrel?" "Nothing," she said. They watched till the ship passed through the dark arm of the harbor. His shoulders were square. His hair as fiery, and his blue eyes as lively as ever. He moved, spoke and smiled jerkily. Even his silences were unrefined, for when Peter was quiet, it was because his brain was busy.

"That's a fine bowler that fellow Tony Lance," Major Mallone said. Against the blue crepe of her plain best frock, Petrel's skin was the gold of apricots. Her youthful intent face, and her steady eyes watched Peter anxiously. "If only he survives the first few balls! Oh! he's a beauty!" she cried. Aunt Maisie laid a hand on her knee. "Sh! That's all controlled!"

Petronella smiled at her. Ever since Father's attempt to take her back to Burma next October, Aunt Maisie had been trying to teach her to grow up. She let her choose her own clothes, and held Molly Lamming's dress-making up as an example. Aunt Maisie had won, temporarily. Petrel was to have one more year at school. Petrel did not want to go East if it meant leaving Peter.

She found herself watching Tony Lance, the bowler. He was dark. He looked a man, playing among boys. She learned that he had left Sutters three years ago. That he had played for Cambridge and Oxford.

If Peter's score had not climbed, Petronella would not have met Tony Lance. But by lunch, he had made 52 runs, and Father was excited. James, very big, fair and good looking in his new gray suit, left Molly Lamming with his parents, to come and congratulate Peter.

"Keep it up!" He bent and told Petronella. "You look mighty nice!" Was James still crazy about Molly, as he'd told her. Petrel wondered. Perhaps it paid to be beautiful, and make frilly dresses. But she still preferred rock climbing all day with the boys.

"I tell you what I'll do!" Father cried suddenly. "If you make your century against that fellow's bowling, you boys shall have twenty pounds each to go to the Alps."

He seemed to have forgotten the unpaid bills, always lying on the hall table. Petrel sat very quiet. Their luck would mean her disappearance. It would mean a very

Emanon Club Changes Plans
The Emanon Club, which is made up of a group of women from Hurley, changed from its regular luncheon and study meetings Tuesday for a different form of meeting. The group met at the Kingston Tea Garden for luncheon, instead of at the home of one of the members, and instead of an afternoon of bridge or study, enjoyed an afternoon of bowling.

Extracts From Mgr. Stanley's Talk

Mgr. Stanley called the attention of the doctors to the deficit which again appears on our books. He urged the cooperation of the doctors in endeavoring to remedy the causes which have brought about this deficit.

"We are very proud of the accomplishments of the hospital," Mgr. Stanley said, "and in this we depend largely upon the staff of doctors and nurses. The hospital is the doctor's workshop in helping humanity. Loyalty to the school from which we came can produce good results if we work in harmony. Knowledge and the use of the hospital go together."

Mgr. Stanley urged the younger doctors to continue studying. "It is a mistake," he said, "to close our books and feel we have finished; on the contrary, in so doing, we begin to disintegrate. We must develop for ourselves and for those about us. Almighty God has endowed us with certain innate powers which He wants us to develop with respect to our various vocations."

Mgr. Stanley stressed the imminent need of a larger residence for our student nurses. The present structure is far too inadequate. All were asked to endeavor to bring about some means by which the erection of a new building may soon be made possible.

Report of Secretary of Staff

The Very Reverend Monsignor Stanley, Sister Berenice, Sisters and Staff Members:

For several years I have been reading to you an annual report or message in which I have endeavored to give briefly some of the activities of the staff and their correlation with the problems of the hospital. As I mentally review these events of the past it seems to me as if there has been a vast amount of repetition, especially in the discussions which come up in meetings and also in some of the "motions" which have been passed, apparently for the good of the staff or the hospital, but they all have a familiar ring or sound, and on looking back through the minutes we find that that "motion" had previously been before the staff for consideration and action taken. If we were to acquaint ourselves with the by-laws and the rules and regulations we would not be spending so much time in useless discussions and we could devote more time to making our meetings scientific rather than political.

As you know, we have to review the charts at every meeting and it is rather difficult to arouse interest in some of the charts. The presentation of charts should only be delegated to the members who have interesting and unusual cases to which other members would enjoy listening and discussing. It is in the discussion and the hidden facts are brought out and we ourselves are mentally stimulated and enriched thereby. When these charts or cases are presented with lantern slides of the autopsy findings we can visualize the case more clearly and follow it to its termination. We are very fortunate in that we have this additional aid to diagnosis.

Recently we were favored by a visit from one of the representatives of the American College of Surgeons, Hospital Division. He was liberal in his praise of what we have accomplished since his last visit and pointed out the many objectives which the staff as a whole should strive to attain for the continued progress of the hospital.

It is gratifying to note the increase in the number of autopsies. These, under the direction of Dr. J. S. Taylor, our pathologist, have proven very instructive.

During the year the staff had a memorial table placed in the reception hall of the hospital in memory of Dr. Mark O'Meara, our late chief of staff.

The staff has lost by death a former member, Dr. Harold Van Norstrand, who gave of his time and services to the hospital for over 15 years. He was a keen diagnostician and was well equipped in his specialty. We miss him greatly.

We, as a group, have the betterment of our patients and the hospital in our mind constantly and we are striving at all times to help them. We are endeavoring to make the hospital one of the best and by so doing we are giving these benefits to our patients. As we look back over the years we can see the steady growth of the Benedictine Hospital and we are proud of it. We have the satisfaction of knowing that it is not the work of one individual but the combined efforts of many.

The various departments of the hospital have worked in harmony as a unit and we, the staff, appreciate the cooperation of the several departmental heads—without them we would not get the excellent results that are apparent.

It is only fitting that I take this opportunity, in behalf of the staff, to thank the Very Reverend Monsignor Stanley for his continued interest and timely advice.

Sister Berenice, reverend superintendent of the hospital, for her many kindnesses and thoughtful consideration of our many wants; Sister Callista, superintendent of the training school, and her student nurses for their cooperation and interest in our patients. To the Benedictine Sisters we are deeply grateful for their friendly cooperation.

Respectfully submitted,
C. L. GANNON, M. D., Secretary to the Staff

Dr. Bush's Remarks

In welcoming the new staff members, Dr. Bush called attention to the fine spirit which exists among our doctors. This, he said, has been a big advantage in our hospital.

The studious assets, the doctor said, have ultimately crystallized in the publishing of two papers by one of the members of the staff. This should be an incentive to others and we hope that the majority of the men will follow suit in the ensuing year.

The doctor remarked that the laboratory work on the department which have kept pace with the rapid advance of the scientific side of the medical profession. Its facilities have been accelerated and broadened, making it possible to diagnose and treat many more diseases. Formerly this was impossible since much of the diagnostic work was done out of town.

There has been such noted improvement in the physical plant of the hospital during the past few years that further progress may be anticipated during the coming year.

Dr. Bush commended the officials of the city for their splendid spirit of cooperation and willingness to lend assistance at all times in all that is beneficial to the health of our citizens.

The admission for patients at the Benedictine Hospital in New York City and the affiliation in psychiatric nursing at Middletown State Hospital are maintained.

Nine students completed their course during the past year. Of this number seven have taken and successfully passed the state board examinations. The other two students are to take the examinations during the week of January 23.

Miss Madeline Hill, who ranked highest in scholastic ability with the highest honors was awarded the Sister Aloysia Scholarship. This was again made possible through the financial aid of the medical staff, the Nurses' Alumnae Association and the Ladies' Auxiliary. We are indeed grateful to all who have contributed to this fund.

The American Journal of Nursing, the official organ of the American Nurses' Association, has given us recognition for this scholarship through an article in the January issue of that publication.

The following changes have occurred on our faculty this year:
Miss Esther Bettigole, who has been teaching the sciences for eight years, has this year taken over the teaching of the nursing arts. Miss Bettigole's background and foundation in the sciences and her additional work at Teachers' College, Columbia University, have fitted her especially well for the teaching of this all important subject.

Miss Gene Harrison, graduate of Washington University School of Nursing, was appointed on the staff as science instructor. Miss Harrison, too, has done considerable graduate work at Teachers' College, Columbia, and has had a wealth of experience in the various fields of nursing and nursing education including public health work, school nursing, various supervisory positions and about 12 years' experience in the teaching of the sciences.

Dr. Eugene Galvin is giving the course in skin diseases and also the course in communicable diseases. Dr. Robert F. Mosley, who has taken over the lectures on syndromal diseases.

Rev. Father John Schulz, C. S. R., of Mt. St. Alphonsus Seminary, has been appointed sodality moderator. Father Schulz has been giving our students monthly conferences and their annual spiritual retreats. The Reverend Father Joseph Kenny, C. S. R., professor of dogmatic theology at Mt. St. Alphonsus, is giving the course in religion.

We are indeed very fortunate in having such well qualified people added to the faculty of our school.

Our students have organized a club which is to cover their varied extra-curricular activities and social functions. Thus far they have had a number of parties, picnics and dances as well as special meetings for those interested in needle work and handicraft.

We wish to express our appreciation and gratitude to our Very Reverend President, Monsignor Stanley, for his wise counsel and guidance, as well as to the School of Nursing committee for their continued interest in the progress of the school. To Dr. Thomas Crowley and Dr. Eugene Galvin we are especially grateful for the time which they devoted to the physical examinations of our students. We wish to thank all of the doctors who have given of their knowledge and skill in the furthering of our educational program, for without their help our work in the school could not possibly be carried on so effectively.

We are grateful to the Alumnae Association for its loyal support in upholding the policies of its Alma Mater. We wish to thank them also for the beautiful gift of a silver tea service to the hospital and nurses home.

The graduate staff of the hospital has been meeting one evening a week to discuss the revision of procedures, also nursing and hospital problems. These meetings have developed into most interesting sessions and are a source of great stimulation for better teaching, better correlation and better and safer nursing care for our patients.

Respectfully submitted,
SISTER M. CALLISTA, Report of Superintendent

Very Rev. Monsignor Stanley, Sisters and Staff Members:
The year 1938 has been a busy one for the hospital. Early in January the work of the hospital increased materially and the increase continued during the entire year. The work has been heavy in all departments. We are glad to state that the death rate dropped from three per cent in 1937 to two per cent in 1938.

The interest and confidence expressed by our Reverend Mother Monica during the year has been a stimulus for us to achieve greater results.

Several years we have spoken in our annual report of His Eminence Cardinal Hayes, and of his deep interest in the spiritual and financial condition of the charitable institutions of the diocese. He is with us no longer but his spirit, we feel, hovers over the operations of these many institutions whose interests were so dear to his heart. His many pastoral proceedings the charity appeals each year revealed the true spirit which permeated his great work. It was evident throughout his life that his one desire was to carry out the Master's admonition to care for the poor and needy.

We are most grateful to our Very Reverend Monsignor John J. Stanley, our president, for his constant interest and cooperation in assisting us to solve our many and often intricate problems. Our patients have been benefited spiritually by the fatherly ministrations of our resident chaplain, the Rev. Father Fitzgerald.

Our hospital staff are more than indebted to the city government of whom Honorable Conrad J. Heitselman is the leader, also to the Works Progress Administration directed by Arthur Hallinan because we have benefited considerably by their joint project of levelling, grading and making a new street in front of our newly acquired property on Webster avenue. It was a joint undertaking inasmuch as the city generously contributed all of the material and equipment while the Works Progress Administration furnished the labor. Mary's avenue was also widened at the exit of our hospital. The levelling and clearing of the corner has made it safer for cars leaving the hospital. The splendid cooperation of Mayor Heitselman and Mr. Hallinan in granting our request is to be commended and will please our many friends who have the interest of the Benedictine Hospital at heart.

We appreciate the kind attention of Joseph Murphy, chief, each year recharging our fire extinguishers and giving instructions in the use of same to our student nurses.

We are again indebted to the members of the Junior League for their assistance throughout the year. They continue to visit the hospital weekly and distribute books to our patients.

We are most grateful for their local newspapers for their spirit of helpfulness manifested in the fine publicity and splendid presentation of our problems to the public.

The attendance at our medical staff meetings has improved. We trust that each active staff member will continue to evidence interest in this vital part of the staff's responsibility to the hospital. The increased attendance is beneficial to each staff member since knowledge is accrued to all in group discussions. Dr. Taylor, our pathologist, contributes a great deal to our staff conferences. He participates in the programs, particularly in the interpretation of surgical pathology and post-mortem findings in relation to disease.

Acting on the suggestion of the American College of Surgeons our by-laws have been revised. Due to a considerable amount of post-graduate work undertaken by Dr. Fred H. Voss he has been made a Diplomate of the American Board of Internal Medicine. This gesture on the part of Dr. Voss should stimulate other members of the staff to similar activity.

Post-graduate work recently undertaken by Dr. Thomas F. Crowley and his position as city physician of schools together with other preparation has fitted him for the position as head of the pediatric department, which position has been assigned to him by the management of the hospital. We appreciate the continued faithful service given by Dr. Crowley to our pre-natal clinic.

Dr. Emil S. Goodyear is to be commended for the time and interest he devoted to the printing of several articles which have been placed in medical literature.

We are indebted to the members of the staff for the time and effort which they have so freely contributed toward the progress of our hospital and training school.

Several members of the medical profession in Kingston and vicinity have applied for membership on our staff and have been accepted.

Due to the increase of service we found it necessary to engage the services of a resident physician in addition to the customary interne service. This additional service has aided us in maintaining the high tone of professional services which we are constantly endeavoring to administer.

On May 15, 1938, a tablet was unveiled in memory of Dr. Mark O'Meara. This tablet is appropriately placed in the reception hall of the institution which Dr. O'Meara loved and where he spent many happy and useful hours. Officials of the city, clergy, and members of the medical staff as well as relatives and friends of the deceased were present to hear well deserved eulogies on the life of Dr. O'Meara.

We regret that 1938 witnessed the passing from this life of another member of our staff, Dr. Harold VanNorstrand. Dr. VanNorstrand was at all times a most loyal and enthusiastic member of our staff and hospital.

The growth of the three cents a day plan for hospital care has been astounding. The Associated Hospital Service of New York now protects more than a million persons. Our hospital cared for 15 patients in 1937 for which $691 were received. In 1938 25 patients were admitted for which we received $2,456.75. There were several reasons why people should join this plan: Hospital service will be ready for people when they need it; they will not have to raise money on short notice; the cost is so small that they can easily afford it. Payments may be made quarterly. There is no physical or financial investigation. Where there are groups smaller than five employed, individual members may apply at hospital for card. The card when completed may be returned to the hospital or directly to the main office of the hospital service in New York City.

Our Ladies' Auxiliary has had another year of remarkable achievements. Early in the year a series of card parties, planned by Mrs. Charles O'Reilly, our president, netted the necessary sum for the Sister Aloysia Scholarship fund.

At the time of our enthusiastic leadership Mrs. O'Reilly aroused the best efforts of the committees and the entire corps of workers who have always labored incessantly for the best interests of the hospital. Parallel with the enthusiasm of the auxiliary members was the generous response of the merchants and the public. The ball was consequently a success, due to the efforts of the auxiliary and the devotion of the public. This achievement was remarkable when we recall that at this particular time sickness and death visited several of the homes of those who were actively engaged in making the ball a success. Then, too, the ranks of the auxiliary were depleted by the death of four members, Mrs. Walter Fales, a most enthusiastic worker at all times, also Miss Mary Huesey, Miss Margaret Mulien

The Road To Tomorrow
What if the day is dreary, and the clouds have obscured the light? What if the soul is weary, and wrong has overshadowed the right?

The sun will outshine the darkness, the thickest of clouds will drift, The heaviest burdens lighten, and the deepest shadows lift. Oh, show me the road to tomorrow, with its hope, its strength, its light.

Fill me with faith for action, and teach me life's battles to fight.

The doctor was questioning the new nurse about her latest patient.

Nurse (blushing)--No, but I can show you my diary.

The logic in the next seems sound:

The dear lady came into the Brushville post office and placed a parcel on the counter.

Dear Lady--I want to send these trousers by book post.

Please, Postmaster--I'm afraid you can't send trousers by book post.

Dear Lady--But you told me the other day that anything open at both ends could be sent by book post.

Farmers tell us there are 8,000 kinds of apples. And still doctors survive--Health Digest. Maybe that's because its applesauce.

At a county fair a prize was offered to the person who could guess the weight of a certain cow. Many people tried their skill, and various weights were suggested.

Finally, old George, a not-unbright farmhand, came forward. To the general amazement he named the exact weight of the cow.

Judge (awarding the prize)--How did you do it?

Farmhand--'Twasn't nothin' I'd 'a' better'n that if I'd been tryin'.

And as one girl put it: "Every-thing I want to do is either illegal, immoral or fattening."

Bookkeeper--I'll have to have a raise, sir, there are three other companies after me.

Bookkeeper--Light, phone, and water.

Read It Or Not

The principal sources of American marble are Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Georgia, Tennessee, North Carolina and New York.

Boy--And now, Doctor, that I've told you I am going to marry Anne, there's one thing I want to get off my chest.

Doctor--You just tell me about it, my boy.

Boy--A tattooed heart with the name 'Mabel' on it.

We wonder if it always works this way:

Wife--I think that men should wear something to show that they are married.

Husband--Well, what about their shiny suits?

BE TOLERANT... Tolerance is a virtue sadly lacking in America today. We have a right to our opinions, but it is of equal importance that we respect the beliefs of others. Progress is the fusing of many ideas, and

"Charlie Chan in Honolulu." Screen play by Charles Belden. Directed by H. Bruce Humberstone. Cast: Sidney Toler, Phillis Brooks, Sen Young, Eddie Collins, John King, Claire Dodd, George Zucco, Richard Lane, Marc Lawrence.

HOLLYWOOD--Rarely does a "B" (low-budget) picture surpass in interest a film week's more pretentious offerings. This one does--because it introduces a new Chan to the legion of the Chinese detective's admirers.

Sidney Toler, replacing the late Warner Oland, is an unqualified success. His Chan, fortunately, is no imitation of his predecessor's, but an independent characterization adorned by his own subtleties. For his debut he has been provided with a well-integrated, suspenseful mystery aboard a freighter docked at the Hawaiian port.

CHAN, wife and brood are awaiting arrival of the first Chan grandchild when the detective is summoned to clear up the murder. There's $300,000 in cash involved, plus a pretty secretary (Brooks), a handsome ship's officer (King), plus an eerie psychiatrist (Zucco) and a shady widow (Dodd). Collins, the diminutive rubberface, mugs hilariously as keeper of a wild animal consignment, and Sen Young (Chan's No. 2 son with sleuthing aspirations) clicks hugely. Mystery and comedy are well balanced, and the film should assure a new long life to the Chan series.

"Pacific Liner." Screen play by John Twist. Directed by Lew Landers. Cast: Victor McLaglen, Chester Morris, Wendy Barrie, Alan Hale, Barry Fitzgerald, Allan Lane, Paul Guilfoyle.

Played to the throbs of a luxury liner's engines, and largely in the smoky, atmospheric, interesting, dreary, and grim account of a cholera epidemic below decks during a passage from Shanghai to San Francisco.

McLaglen is the burly, blustery chief engineer intent on keeping his record of crossings in scheduled time. Morris is the ship's doctor, gifted in tropic diseases but plagued by wanderlust. Wendy is the nurse, resuming on this voyage a previously interrupted romance with the doctor.

When a stowaway dies of cholera, Morris quarantines the stokers. One by one the plague claims the men, whose fear mounts to panic, to threatened mutiny. McLaglen, scornful, goads his remaining men to the point of exhaustion, finally picks up a shovel himself to keep the fires going even after he, too, has yielded to the disease. Morris and Wendy, through the scourge, are drawn closer.

Smiles!

A smile costs nothing but creates much. It happens in a flash, and the memory of it lasts forever. It cannot be bought, begged, borrowed, nor stolen; But it is something that is no earthly good to anyone until it is given away.

So, if in your hurry and rush you meet someone

Who is too weary to give you a smile, leave one of yours. For no one needs a smile quite as much as the one who has none left to give.--Plant Life.

Mayor Proclaims March of Dimes Day for Kingston

Kingston's part in the "March of Dimes" campaign this week will be marked by a proclamation by Mayor Heiselein which will set aside Saturday, January 21, as the day for a city-wide canvass, giving all people here an opportunity to have a part in the nationwide battle against infantile paralysis.

William J. Dwyer and Mrs. Grace M. DuBois, who are fellow members of the executive committee with Mayor Heiselein, are in charge of this feature of the U. S. county celebration for the raising of funds to aid victims of infantile paralysis.

Mr. Dwyer said today that half of all money collected will be placed in a Kingston bank for the use of members of the Ulster County Medical Association in finding polio victims, the other half of the amount will be used by the National Foundation in its laboratory work for the extermination of the disease and for the aiding of victims.

Robert Herzog, treasurer of the fund, reports that the fund already established here has provided of great benefit to infantile paralysis victims of Kingston and Ulster county and there is urgent need of the cooperation of the people of the city and county to maintain a fund large enough to be of real assistance to those who are stricken by this dread disease.

Trading on the Stock Exchange continued in light volume Tuesday with total transactions at $20,000 shares and averages for most of the session, with the exception of utilities, were below Monday's closing prices, but a firmer tendency developed in late trading and all classes of securities showed an advance for the day. Corporations are evidently benefitting from the lesson received in revelations in the McKesson & Robbins case. It was announced that hereafter auditors for Radio Corp. of America will be selected by stockholders at annual meetings. Other corporations have recently taken steps to place greater responsibility on stockholders and directors. The practice has been standard for British companies for many years.

About the Folks

Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Crosby have left for Florida. It is understood that they planned to go as far as St. Petersburg. New Paltz Youth Now Walks Again

A new world and what Teddy Roosevelt described as "the strenuous life," lies before Anthony Ruiz, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ruiz of New Paltz.

Tony, a few days ago abandoned his crutches at a New York hospital and took his first step unaided since his second year of life when he was stricken with infantile paralysis.

An operation performed last October opened the way for Tony's great day and it came January 10 when he tested the leg which had been first in a brace and then in a cast.

Tony's face beamed with happiness and his eyes sparkled in contemplation of fulfilling dreams which had been his for many long days, his friends report.

At the hospital, he talked with the physician, telling of his desire to join other children in their fun. This was even before the tense moment of his test, and when it came, those who witnessed the climactic instant in this boy's life, say his happiness was never surpassed, when he realized in his first step that he would walk again unaided by a mechanical support.

Tony walked from the train to his home. It is reported, and it is underlined that although he walks with a slight limp, this scarcely will be noticeable in time.

Farm Bureau Arranges School for Daylirmen

An important feature of the dairy program arranged by the Farm Bureau dairy committee is the best improvement campaign. This will be launched with a two-day breeding school at the Grange Hall in New Paltz on January 31 and February 1. All daylirmen will be interested in attending this school and all are invited.

The main theme of the school will be how to eliminate the gamble in selecting a herd sire. Much progress has been made in this field. Two instructors from the New York State College of Agriculture will give the lectures in connection with the school.

Maroon Scores Over Liberty, 36-26; Washington Here Tonight

Shultis Leads Kingston Attack With 11 Markers

19th Victory

Klasmann Put on Dash in 4th Quarter to Win—Ellenville Next on League Slate

Kingston High School Varsity continued its clean slate on the auditorium boards last night, putting Liberty 36 to 26. Pacing the Klasmann was Jess Shultis, who assaulted the wicket for 11 points. "Yutch" Meadows, the Liberty sensation, took the individual scoring honors with 15, making seven on four shots.

By taking this battle from the highly-touted Indians just about faced Kingston in the spot to annex another DUSO League pennant. Liberty was considered a sure thing to win the circuit, but only other team in the circuit to have a chance of slapping the Maroon and White representatives into the loss column.

The powerful Maroon basketball also kept their extended winning streak going by chalking up number 19, a record for future teams to shoot at. This victory also kept the Klasmann's slate clean for home games since removing the auditorium for home games.

Despite the 10-point margin of victory Liberty was in the game from the start and only a third period crusher applied by the locals pushed them out of the running.

It was another eventful night for Jess Shultis, the big sparkplug of the Kingston machine, who scored 11 markers. Jess was pretty well checked in the first half by "Moose" Gerber and Captain Don Crook but came back in the last two sessions to push in scores with ease.

While Shultis was doing the bumping act his teammates, Harry Flowers, Milt Dubin, Andy Murphy, Ray Van Buren and "Lindy" Lindhurst, all had a share in winning Liberty.

Right after the first tap-off Kingston forged into the lead on Harry Flowers' quick side flip on a relay from Milt Dubin and Ray Van Buren. Meadows and Hasbrouck came back for Liberty following a lengthy period of defensive work with a foul and a field. Jess Shultis put his team back in the lead on a pretty layup but once again Liberty came rushing back on Crook's and Austin's set and charity striper making the point 6-4 for Liberty. With only 5 seconds to go in the initial period, Ray Van Buren poured in his only field of the game knotting the count at 6-6.

Still Close Play
More vivid shots by both clubs opened the second quarter until Meadows flipped in a foul and then continued on with a solo dash down the side lanes, passed to Hasbrouck, who then relayed back to "Yutch" Meadows coming in front of Van Buren dribbled in and chucked in a field, giving the Indians a 9 to 6 lead. It wasn't long though before the peppery Klasmann returned to the lead, with a shot by Meadows, the Indians in from a difficult angle while Milt Dubin took the spotlight with his assortment. As the second period ended a little later these flips by Dubin proved to be the breaking spot for the Klasmann to come to life. Both of Milt's shots were mixed with plenty of speed.

Liberty, still much in the thick of things, rallied momentarily on four fouls by Crook and Hasbrouck. With less than three minutes to go until the half expired Coach Klasmann sent in his replacement by supplanting Ray Van Buren with lanky Ray "Lindy" Lindhurst. For the remainder of the period Meadows and Murphy shot fouls to make the score 16-6 all as the gun sounded.

Maroon Takes Lead
Andy Murphy, who starred on the defensive line, chucked in the first decade of the third canto after a brief see-saw battle of passes. Shultis added a foul and reeled off another of his special break-aways on an intercepted pass and raced down the court to sock in a layup making the count 21-16.

Meadows and Austin fought back desperately to salvage with a field and a foul. On an easy pushup Ray Lindhurst corked in his initial score only to have "Yutch" Meadows come back with a "Yutch" marker. With a minute to go in this third session Lindhurst racked up another decade following a swift break-up.

Jess Shultis returned to peck away at the scoring column. Jess's last marker was undoubtedly the most difficult and best one of the game.

Kingston still forged away from Liberty on Flowers' foul. Meadows' foul (his seventh of the game) stopped the local barrage, but it was continued on successive fields by Ray Lindhurst and Harry Flowers. Only one minute and 30 short seconds were left in the game as Meadows dashed along the side court and arched a pretty deuce into the cords. Jess Shultis topped off the Kingston scoring festivities with the second ticking away on a knife-like layup from close-in after receiving Murphy's fireball chuck. Louis Hasbrouck, another of Coach Klasmann's recruits, ended the scoring work for his team on the following formation.

Taking this win, the Kingston team piled up victory number five in DUSO League competition. Two weeks from now the last team to be tested by the Klasmann, Ellenville, will be taken on. The undefeated team should continue. This Friday the locals will play a non-league tilt in Poughkeepsie.

Lewis, Classiest Boxer Among Heavyweights, Hopes He'll Outspeed And Outpoint Joe Louis

By DILLON GRAHAM
UP Feature Service Writer
Summit, N. J.—Joseph Louis

Barrow is extravagantly fond of shuteye and so it is unlikely that his slumbers have been disturbed by the news that John Henry Lewis comes from a family that produced the first American challenger for the world heavyweight championship.

A less-tranquil individual might find his snores interrupted in the dead of night by the horrendous prospect of encountering a gladiator who sprang from the same family tree as Tom Molineaux. But not Joseph.

It is unlikely that John Henry had any scheme of frightening Joseph by tracing his ancestry back to Molineaux the other day while training at Madame Bey's Camp. John Henry meets Joseph in a 15-round bout for the heavyweight title in Madison Square Garden January 25.

Uncle Tom's Record
"Molineaux was my great-great-uncle," Lewis disclosed. "He was a slave in Virginia who won his freedom by beating a slave bully from another plantation. Then he went to England and fought Tom Cribb in 1819, for the title."

John Henry doesn't care to follow Ancestor Molineaux's steps any further, for the slave slugging pitched into ringpost while swinging wild and fractured his skull. He had given Cribb a bad beating up until then, but he wasn't on deck when they passed out the decision.

Lewis has been fighting since he was 4 years old. His father used to put the gloves on John Henry and Brother Christy and toss 'em into club-fight preliminaries. Papa Lewis was a lightweight scrapper back in the days when pugilists didn't figure they'd worked up a good sweat unless they'd fought 40 rounds or more.

John Henry started professionally in 1930 as a lightweight. He spent few hours in actual fighting but many hours in the gym practicing.

John Henry Lewis (Above) Comes From a Fighting Family

And all the while he was growing rapidly.

Lewis beat Braddock and other good boys as far back as 1932 but it wasn't until 1935 that he really came into prominence after winning the light-heavyweight title from Bob Olin.

Since that time Lewis has been fighting anyone he could persuade into the ring, including a large number of heavyweights. He's accustomed to spotting a rival 20 pounds or so and winning a 15-round decision. He'll weigh 183 to Joe's 201 but the weight difference isn't bothering him.

Lewis professes to have a plan to beat Louis but he'll say that his customary rule is to try to outpoint the other guy. If an undefeated chin is stuck in his path, says John Henry, he knows what to do.

He's acknowledged the best boxer above the middleweight class. While he doesn't pack a punch like Louis, he's a good two-fisted fighter with a wallop that has accounted for around 50 knockouts.

Week Older Than Joe

Although he's been around a long time and has absorbed more experience than Joe he is exactly a week older than the Bomber. He's a jitterbug...likes to pound a piano spends hours taking moving pictures...his biggest purse was $200,000 for beating Len Harvey in England...learned to box through instruction from his father, John, and an old Pacific coast fighter named Hippo Burns. He says his present trainer, Larry Amadeo, has improved his style considerably.

Amadeo's presence in Lewis' corner may disturb Joe for Amadeo has been in Joe's corner for all his major fights, including the last Schmeling vs. Louis bout fought since June, the longest of Joe's ever taken. John Henry has fought 23 rounds in three bouts since then...he lost his first pro fight...he doesn't mind roadwork but hates the getting-up part...enjoys sleep as much as Louis but isn't so big an eater...he's seen all of Joe's major fights... "Red" Burman is among the heavyweights he's beaten...Burman, who fought Tommy Farr the other night, was kayoed by Lewis in two heats in 1936.

Joe Ghnoully Outpoints Alzak in White Plains

White Plains, N. Y., Jan. 18 (AP)—Joe Ghnoully, veteran St. Louis lightweight, outpointed Eddie Alzak in the eight round feature bout before 4,000 at the Community Center last night. Ghnoully weighed 134, Alzak 136.

Tommy De Stefano, 148, Philadelphia, outpointed Pete Koloff, 143½, New York, in a six rounder and John Barnett, 158½, New York, outpointed Joe Woods, 157½, Pompton Lakes, N. J., in a four rounder.

Carnegie Lays Off Until February 4

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—The tarts of Carnegie Tech having beaten every eastern intercollegiate basketball league rival except Temple, the 1938 champion, go into temporary retirement today.

Playing on the road for the first time, Carnegie turned back Penn State 35-33 last night. That gave the Techmen a record of four straight conference victories, and they don't play another game in the circuit until they meet Pitt a second time February 4.

Tonight Temple, beaten by Georgetown the first time out and by three non-conference rivals, meets West Virginia, loser to both Carnegie and Georgetown, at Morgantown, W. Va.

Eastern State

Eastern League teams have a full schedule tonight with Dartmouth and Columbia, the co-leaders, both after victory No. 2. Dartmouth plays at Cambridge, Mass., against a Harvard team that hasn't lived up to its advance billing while Columbia visits Princeton. Cornell plays Yale at New Haven.

Last night Lehigh hung up its fifth straight win, beating Muhlenberg, 46-28, and Bucknell, 40-22, and Dickinson 56-42. Tonight the unbeaten army team takes on Lafayette, Long Island University, winner of ten straight, plays the New York A. C. and St. John's of Brooklyn seeks its ninth successive triumph against Fordham.

Patty Berg Leads

Augusta, Ga., Jan. 18 (AP)—Patty Berg of Minneapolis enjoyed a four-stroke lead in the Augusta (Ga.) golf tournament here today, after cracking out a 78 yesterday, to duplicate her medal winning performance of the opening round.

Gun Club's New Officers

Improved Quintet At the Auditorium Against Colonials

Dreyfus Helps

Milt Schoenfeld, Brewers Leading Scorer, Among 10 Leaders; Also Frankel and Kaplan

President John J. O'Brien in his weekly news letter to the press rates Washington, which plays the Colonials tonight, as "the most greatly improved club in the circuit during the past three weeks."

This means that the boys of Barney Sedran, when they dash around at the auditorium in their weekly American League game, will have no push-over. Last Sunday, the Brewers displayed their best form of the season in defeating Troy.

County Firemen
Denounce Reich

The Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association meeting Tuesday evening in Rosendale as the guests of the fire department of that village, adopted a resolution introduced by Judge Henry E. McKenzie of Port Jervis, denouncing the acts of the German Reich in its persecution of the Jewish race and other minorities in Germany.

The association welcomed to its membership the newly organized volunteer fire company of Stone Ridge, and it was stated that plans were rapidly going ahead for the formation of a fire district in Esopus.

The county firemen met in Firemen's Hall on Main street in Rosendale, and the speaker of the evening was T. Alfred Fleming of the National Board of Underwriters, who delivered an interesting address on the new fire hazards encountered in hospitals and industrial plants.

The resolution introduced by Judge McKenzie was to the effect that the association expressed its indignation of the acts of the German government as against natural right and liberty. The county firemen will meet in Ellenville in February. The March meeting will be held in Tilton, and the April meeting will be held in Kingston when the firemen will be the guests of Cornell Hose and the Rescue Hook & Ladder Company.

Men's Clubs Hear
Colonel McEntee

One of the outstanding meetings of the year was held by the Men's Club of the Wurts Street Baptist Church on Monday evening, January 16, at the church parlors, when the club entertained the Men's Club of the Ponckhockie Congregational Church.

After a short business session those assembled listened to an illustrated lecture given by Col. Girard L. McEntee on "Turkey's Part in the World War." He was presented to the group by Floyd W. Powell, who told of the early life and education of Col. McEntee and also of the many honors which he has received since entering the U. S. Army.

Col. McEntee reviewed the many achievements of both the Turkish Army and also the British Army and gave a graphic picture of their part in the events of the World War. After the lecture Col. McEntee received congratulations on the splendid presentation of his subject.

Following the lecture refreshments were served by the men of the club and this was followed by a softball game between the members of the two clubs. The club of the Wurts Street Church took two games from their guests.

Among the guests present was Postmaster W. R. Kraft, whose son is a plebe at the United States Military Academy at West Point. Also present was Edward Flanagan of Saugerties, whose son is the successful apolitee to West Point from Ulster county. The Men's Club of the Wurts Street Church is making plans for its annual minstrel show to be held March 6 and 7.

Pastor Is Called To Philadelphia

Announcement was made in last Sunday's bulletin of the Reformed Church of the Comforter, Wynkoop Place, that the Rev. Cornelius M. Mynkens, pastor of the church, had received a call from the Fourth Reformed Church of Philadelphia, Pa.

Mr. Mynkens came to Kingston two years ago from Gardner, where he had served that church as pastor.

Asked today as to his plans Mr. Mynkens said that the call by the Philadelphia congregation had not yet been officially made and he had made no plans regarding any change in pastorate. The call had come to him unofficially by telegram with the understanding that an official call would be received later.

Close to Zero
Weather Here

After a day of moderate temperature on Tuesday the mercury began dropping that night and the lowest point recorded by the official city thermometer at the city hall was 12 degrees above zero.

Close to zero weather gripped the city on Sunday and Monday. On Sunday the lowest recording was four above zero and on Monday the thermometer recorded six above.

At no time this year has the official city thermometer touched zero, although thermometers in other sections of the city on Sunday recorded a low of zero.

Interfraternal
League Results

With a good attendance to watch them, the Interfraternal Tournament League games went on at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Dugout last night. After the contests refreshments were served. President Frank Weiss announced the next schedule of games for the Knights of Columbus, January 24.

Stamps
In The News

The oldest temple still standing in Japan, the Horyu-ji, was founded in 586. It is about eight miles from Nara, classical city of old Japan, and its present 21 buildings include some of the world's oldest in wood.

Shotoku Taishi (Crown Prince Sage-Virtue) started the Horyu-ji at the emperor's order, and several buildings were added during Empress Suiko's reign (592-607). Today tourists find this temple interesting for its architecture and priceless art objects. Two of its buildings are pictured on the 25-cent brown stamp of Japan's new modernized series.

The Gojyu-no-to, or Five Storied Pagoda (112 feet high), appears at the left of the design. On its ground floor are terra-cotta images representing scenes in Buddha's life, made from clay brought from India and China.

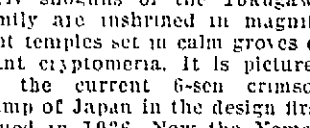

The Kondo, or Main Hall of the Horyu-ji, is the central feature of the scenic design of this stamp. It has stone foundations, a double roof and walls of mud, coated with thin white pottery clay. Inside, the walls of this "Golden Hall" are decorated with paintings of the Buddhist Paradise on the grand scale. These frescoes are considered the most important pictorial art relic of their period (the Hakuho, second Nara ate period, 615-721). Art experts say these murals show Indian inspiration and have the "bold, free outlines of early Tang painting." They may have been done by a Chinese or Korean artist.

Other fine art works in the Kondo are a brocade banner picturing the four Deva Raja (Heavenly Kings); the personal sanctuary of Empress Suiko, a 3 1/2-foot high lacquered shrine—once covered with transparent beetle wings held in place by gilded metal fasteners—and gilt-bronze figures of the Buddha.

Gate To A Shogun's Tomb

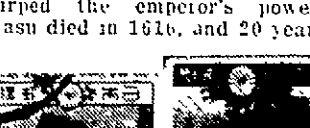

The Yomei-mon, or Gate of Sunlight, is one of the great sights of Nikko, where the tombs of the early shoguns of the Tokugawa family are enshrined in magnificent temples set in calm groves of giant cypresses. It is pictured on the current 6-cent crimson stamp of Japan in the design first issued in 1926. Now the Yomei-mon is shown from a new angle, handsomely engraved on the new 10-s dull red stamp of upright format.

This elaborate gate leads to the Toshogu, or shrine of Ieyasu, founder of the Tokugawa Shogunate, a military dictatorship which usurped the emperor's power. Ieyasu died in 1616, and 20 years

Oil Stove Fire Sets Off
Sprinkler System Today

A two-burner oil stove in the apartments of Thomas Moore on the second floor of the Gildersleeve building at 615 Broadway became overheated this morning, set off the sprinkler system and resulted in a still alarm being telephoned in on the fire department.

The building is occupied by A. H. Gildersleeve & Son, wholesale fruit dealers, and the entire building is equipped with a sprinkler system. The upper floors are living apartments.

The sprinkler extinguished the fire in the apartments and the most damage was from water. The apartment was located over the Gildersleeve store and some water dripped through the ceiling to the store below, but not enough to cause any damage.

Banquet Program
For January 26

Theodor Oxholm of Esopus, a director of the New York State Horticultural Society and chairman of the banquet committee, has just announced the program for the annual banquet to take place at the Governor Clinton Hotel Thursday evening, January 26. It is expected that nearly 300 will be in attendance.

The banquet is one of the important functions of the three-day fruit growers' show and meeting held annually in Kingston. Walter Clarke of Milton, past president of the Horticultural Society, will act as toastmaster, and W. S. Campfield of Staunton, Virginia, will be the principal speaker. Entertainment will be furnished by the Sickles Entertainers of Saugerties. The three winners in the junior speaking contest will deliver their essays and the junior contest awards will be made.

Mayor and Mrs. Conrad J. Heiselman and Senator and Mrs. Arthur H. Wicks will be among the guests of the Horticultural Society. J. R. Stevenson of Cayuga, recently elected president of the New York Horticultural Society, will open the program.
